

Emanuele Conte

Emanuele Conte is professor of legal history at the University of Roma Tre and director of studies at the EHESS (École des hautes études en sciences sociales, Paris). His research focuses on the history of the universities, on the history of the sources of law, on the development and dialectical use of legal categories, and on the history of legal historiography.